Plenty of Game Up Country Capture. Season closes Dec. 15th.

Monthly Meeting Board of Trade.

There was a large attendance, Friday evening, at the regular meeting of Norway Board of Trade. It was held in Engine House Hall, which has been repaired and otherwise renovated by the Board, in conjunction with some members of the Firemen's club, and is a very attractive room.

A committee was appointed to secure special rates on the Grand Trunk Railway during Merchants' week at the Holidays. This committee was Lee M. Smith, A. L. Sanborn and Sec. Fred S. Brown. The standing committee submitted their reports, which were encouraging and indicated progress in the work of the board. Thomas Smiley reported his visit to Montreal in the interest of a low Saturday fare to the villages, and as we reported last week the matter will receive the careful investigation and consideration of the railroad.

The time of meeting has been changed to the second Tuesday in each month, and the election of officers was deferred to Dec. 12. It was voted to have refreshments at that time.

Kingdom of God Advancing.

John A. Lansing of Cambridge, Mass., gave a masterly address full of interest at the Congregational church, last Sunday afternoon. The noted and able speaker is a decided optimist. He believes that the Kingdom of God is steadily advancing in the world. The putting away of slavery and serfdom, the growing brotherhood of nations, the cause of education, the putting of the Bible into the hands of the common people in all nations, the preaching of the Gospel and the founding of all good institutions, industrial and benevolent as well as religious, the growing sentiment and demand for civil and religious liberty, all indicate a great world-wide, onward movement toward intelligent righteousness.

The speaker dwelt at length upon the views, life, work and martyrdom of John Huss. This part of the address as well as other parts of it was intensely interesting and inspiring.

In the evening Mr. Lansing gave a talk to the Endeavorers on the condition of the common people of Bohemia as well as the condition of the common people of America. Both addresses were to show the benefits of the pure and simple Gospel among the common people as touching all the conditions of life—and without any appeal for financial aid he left the people with a desire to extend the Kingdom of God among all nations.

Deputy Sheriff F. E. Deoster is on a brief hunting trip up country.

The fair of Mount Hope Rebekah lodge, last Thursday, netted the lodge about $100.

Mrs. Harry S. Newcomb of Philadelphia is a guest of her parents, John Hayes and wife.

A 35 h. p. boiler and engine were hauled Tuesday, to South Waterford, to belong to E. G. Emerson and will be set at Muddy brook, where Mr. Emerson is to saw up long lumber and birch stock.

He has a water power mill but low water necessitated his putting in a steam mill.

Capt. Frank Merrill, who has been a very successful traveling salesman for the paper house of John Carter, of Boston, for the past 20 years, suffered a paralytic stroke, while in Portsmouth, N. H., last week. Capt. Merrill is a Buckfield boy and has many friends in old Oxford county.

The stone abutments of the bridge over tannery brook on the new street running through the tannery lot are nearing completion. The building of coffer dams was necessary to prepare foundations and the work has been thoroughly and substantially done. The iron bridge goes on the abutments is expected most any time now.

We had a buckboard or spring-board and had no farther use for it. We put a forty cent ad. in the ADVERTISER "want column" for a customer, who is pleased with the bargain he got. Have not you something you want to sell? If so, tell our readers of it.

L. D. Harris, foreman of the Novelty Wood Turning Mill, has been assigned to Lyndonville, Vt. He was an excellent musician, and will be missed in circles where such talent is utilized and appreciated. His place is taken by Chas. O. Frederick. Mr. Flanders, of Adams, of Fitchburg, Mass., former employee of the company have come here and are at work in the Steep Falls mill.

The Lakeview Literary club will meet at Alvin Brown's Saturday evening, at 8 o'clock.

Box Supper

Norway Municipal Court.

On Tuesday was held a hearing in the case of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Robertson on a charge of disturbing the peace at their rooms in Masonic block, South Paris. A number of people were present from South Paris as witnesses. The respondents were defended by E. F. Smith, esq. and county attorney C. P. Barnes appeared for the State. As a result of the hearing, Mrs. Robertson was discharged and Mr. Robertson was fined $5 and costs of $24.95, which he paid. A box of liquors containing bottles of rum, whiskey and wine was seized Tuesday morning at the South Paris station. The usual libel was made out. Some person or persons will have a message for Thanksgiving than they planned.

A. M. E. Sale.

W. S. Sloan is sick with tonsillitis. Annie Lafortier, a teacher in Portland, spends Thanksgiving in Norway.

Chester Flint shot a deer on Isaiah's mountain near Round pond last week. Thursday evening, Dec. 7th, the W. C. B. U. met at Mrs. C. N. Tubbs at 7:30.

All the members of Mt. Hope Rebekah Lodge are asked to be present at their next regular meeting.

Certainly we print cards. We do it as you want them done and at satisfactory prices ranging from 50 to 75 cts. per 100.

Frank Harvick recently shot a 200 lb. buck at North Norway. It's head had 8 prongs and is to be mounted by Nash.

Mina Jewett has gone into the Bear River region deer hunting. She will stop at R. W. Kilgore's. Last season she shot a deer.

Leonard A. Carter of Northwest Norway is sick and confined to the house. He is unable to eat and he feels there is little hope of recovery.

John A. Woodman is sheathing the kitchen to his log cabin and finishing off two chambers. He has been at work on it for the past ten days.

Advertiser's November Circulation.

The total number of Norway (Me.) ADVERTISER'S printed last month was 11,275 copies. The average was 2818 copies each issue.

That's exactly what it was. So the critical and skeptic may have no chance to say or even think of "special edition to swell the average" I give the number printed each week:

Friday, Nov. 3.....2825 copies.
" " 10.....2825 "
" " 17.....2825 "
" " 24.....2800 "

That's it. Just it and nothing more or less.

There is no occasion to lie about the circulation of a paper, even though it was no more than 210 copies. Tell the truth.

Avoid the wrong and stick to the right. Place your advertising where you see fit.

Should you, however, want to talk to our readers you can do so provided you conform to reasonable rules and regulations.

Those are stated on application. Address FRED W. SANBORN, Norway, Me.

P. S. I do job printing. Get my figures.

Elhanan B. Tubbs and wife are to spend Thanksgiving in Portland with their son, E. B. Tubbs, who is a conductor on the electric road in that city.

If you are to club with the Three-Times-a-Week World, bring in your orders early. That paper and the ADVERTISER one year costs but $2.20.

Reginald Dinsmore and Walter Tubbs have returned from their hunting trip to Umbagog bringing in three deer—two does and one buck. They were gone ten days.

A six per cent dividend was paid by S. D. Andrews, the receiver of the Oxford County Loan Association last week. This was the eleventh dividend and pays 35 per cent of the face of their indebtedness.

H. S. Flint and wife have moved, from their farm in Northwest Norway, to the Marston rent on Tucker street. Mr. Flint, who lost a foot some months ago, is getting on as well as could be expected.

Norway Grange.

The regular meeting of Norway Grange, was held last Saturday afternoon. A large attendance was present, numbering upwards of 100 members, with a few visitors.

The third and fourth degrees were conferred upon a class of six. The work of the officers was of unusual excellence. The degree work was followed by the floor work of the Auxiliary. The team never did better and the was made entertaining by the introduction of new features. The team was made up as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Crocker.
Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Freeman.
Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cummings.
Mrs. Lione Bartlett.
Hattie Merrill.
Annie Danforth.
Elsie Bradbury.
Rust Jackson.
Frank Lovering.
Joy Farnum.

The next meeting comes on Dec. 9th, and will be held at 11 o'clock. The forenoon will be taken up by the annual reports of the officers and committees. In the afternoon comes the election of officers. The worthy Master J. A. Roberts announced his intention to retire from the chair at the close of this year.

The Grange received and accepted an invitation to visit Oxford Grange on the evening of the 8th of Dec. A large delegation of this Grange will attend the Pomona at South Paris, on the 5th of Dec.

The small boy is hoping for good skating tomorrow. Communion at the Methodist church, next Sunday.

Mrs. L. M. Lunt was in the city buying goods, last week.

Lester E. Cowan goes to Bangor today to enjoy Thanksgiving.

W. A. Bicknell has returned from a fur buying trip in Somerset county.

Frank J. Fuller has moved into J. H. Porter's cottage on Pleasant street.

William Walker was home from Portland, where he is employed, over Sunday.

Wm. C. Leavitt and wife observed the 25th anniversary of their marriage, Friday.

J. M. Palmer has gone to Boston, to spend Thanksgiving with Walter Russell.

The Talbot family have moved from W. E. Perkins' rent, back to Rumford Falls.

Mrs. L. M. Lunt visited her brother, Adelbert U. Locke, at Portland, last week.

No delivery by rural carriers Thanksgiving day. Holiday hours at the post office are, open 8:30 to 11 a. m., 2:30 to 5 p. m.

The Junior League reception given by the pastor, Mr. Brooks last week, was well attended, and a very pleasant occasion.

Giles Frost is conductor on the N. & P. St. Railway.

C. Elwood Brooks is home from college for Thanksgiving.

Dr. H. P. Jones and wife spent Sunday in Augusta with Dr. E. L. Hall.

Rev. C. A. Brooks preaches at the North Norway chapel, next Sunday p. m.

Irene Hazen is home from the Farmington Normal school for the Thanksgiving vacation.

Miriam Calf, who has been quite ill with blood poison in her foot, from cutting a corn, is gaining.

It is a newly formed Maine company insuring only members of fraternal organizations and has at the head prominent society men of the State.

F. E. Towner has secured for the concert in January the services of Mr. Austin as cellist. Mr. Austin is a member of the Boston Symphony Orchestra and is an artist in his profession of much note. His playing is marked with purity of tone, delicacy of touch and will be not the least attractive and successful feature of the concert.

The Holt School Improvement League met at the schoolhouse Nov. 22. The meeting was called to order by the president, Miss Adams. The League voted to have a box supper, Friday night, Dec. 8, at Thaxter Doughty's. After the business a short program was listened to as follows:

Report of Secretary.....Mrs. Howe
Reading.....Margie Hobbs
Declamation.....Mrs. Knightly
Recitation.....Lena Buck
Song.....Edna Cook
Song.....Theron Hobbs
Song.....Mrs. Knightly
The meeting adjourned to meet Dec. 6, at the schoolhouse.

Scholars Have Vacation.

The village schools closed last Friday for the Thanksgiving holiday of two weeks. The roll of honor as far as returned is:

Grammar School Grade 9.
Harriet Abbott, teacher. Names of pupils present at every session during the fall term:

Lucie Barrows, Gladys Buck,

Olivia Libby, William H. Snow,
Eva Smith, Guy Smith,
Dorothy Tibbs, Lou T. Whitney,
Velma M. Wentzel, Minnie Frost.

Whole number of pupils enrolled 32, percent of attendance 95.

The ninth grade pupils have purchased a very beautiful picture for their schoolroom. It is The Morning Bath, by Bridgeman, being a Copley print.

H. J. Bangs has also presented the class with three apples and his gift is fully appreciated by the children.

The class has done excellent work in color work under the direction of Miss McArdle.

Middle Primary.
Gertrude Gardner, teacher. Number of pupils 30, average attendance 27.9. Not absent one-half day:

Ben J. Bailey, Harold W. Churchill,
Theodore E. Frost, Marian E. Gibson,
Sarah E. Frie.

School Notes.
The musical instruction which has been given by Miss McArdle has been an excellent feature of this term's work, and very gratifying results have been secured.

The registration has been heavy this year and an abnormally heavy attendance in the highest grade, the ninth.

An interesting feature of the last day of school was the half dozen boys of the grade 8, who brought up the rear of the school procession each bearing his shield of valor, a desk top in which he had carved his initials and emblems and which he was required to have planned and varnished before the next term.

The country schools will close Dec. 15, a term of twelve weeks.

SOUTH PARIS.
George Cook has gone to Bemis to be away several weeks.

Benjamin Swett, who has been with his son Louie at his camps at Matawamkeag since June, is expected home this week.

C. H. Sessions is under the weather as the saying goes, with a severe cold and has been confined to the house most of the time the past week.

The Paris Manufacturing Company are building a storage shed over the spur track. It is an extension of the former shed and is the same size 100 feet in length.

Thanksgiving Concert.

Sunday evening at the Congregational church was given a fine concert, the object being to raise funds to help make Thanksgiving happier for some poor people. This has become a permanent institution at this church and about $14 was realized this year. Program:

Outing at South Arm.
Lieutenant Stone and S. D. Sessions came with a party from Providence, R. I., the 10th. They have spent their vacation at South Arm hunting. Mr. Sessions and brother Walter arrived at South Paris, Wednesday afternoon, bringing a small deer home to their parents, C. H. Sessions and wife. The other members of the party went to Providence, taking their quota of deer. The brothers visited relatives at Albany, Saturday, and at Oxford, Monday, then S. D. Sessions returned to his home in Providence and Walter to Milton, feeling well paid for their outing as the party called it the "best time yet," although very tiresome hunting on account of the depth of snow and thick crust.

Mrs. Louisa J. Briggs spent last week in Portland.

Roy H. Curtis is at home from Augusta for a visit.

Emma Toothaker of Dixfield is a guest of Mrs. A. D. Park.

Stores, offices and business places will be closed Thanksgiving Day.

DO YOU GET UP

WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made in every case by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, uric acid, catarrh of the bladder and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work and in private practice, and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer

& Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all good druggists. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Ballade of the Open Fireplace.

Some late apartments warmed by steam. Some claim the furnace stands the test. Some say in comfort they can dream. Then add, "To sleep it gives a zest." And makes them happy as can be. But these to me are not the best—the open fireplace for me!

Before the grate I sit and gaze; The pictures there fill me with joy; They bring back to my mind the days When I was just a careless boy. When I was just a careless boy. When I was just a careless boy. When I was just a careless boy.

When I was just a careless boy. When I was just a careless boy. When I was just a careless boy. When I was just a careless boy. When I was just a careless boy. When I was just a careless boy. When I was just a careless boy. When I was just a careless boy.

DO YOU GET UP

WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, uric acid, catarrh of the bladder and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work and in private practice, and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble.

When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all good druggists. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Ballade of the Open Fireplace.

Some like apartments warmed by steam, Some claim the furnace stands the test, Some say in comfort they can dream When rattling pipes tell them to rest. Then add, "No sleep it gives a zest," And makes them happy as can be. But to me are not the best—The open fireplace for me!

Before the grate I sit and gaze; The pictures there fill me with joy; They stir back to my mind the days When I was just a careless boy—When foolish doubts did not annoy, When life seemed ever gay and free, With pipe and furs and I won't toy—The open fireplace for me!

When night is here, and lights burn low, I watch the flickering shadows play Upon the floor: They come and go As do one's thoughts, now grave now gay. Contentment mine? Well, I should say! Life's better than I thought it would be—The open fireplace for me!

The Modern Child. Born scientifically, Studied thoroughly, Clothed very carefully, Fed judiciously, Aired systematically, Bathed most emphatically, Played with quite dignity, Punished Spontaneously, Sweetly intelligently, Slept in gentility, Santa Claus banished, The real human babies, The olden times knew! Where are the babies, Harassed superlatively, Drilled superlatively, Cultured religiously, Lectured religiously, Classified religiously, When young with trigidity, Loved analytically, Listened to the "ologies," Dosed with the "ologies," Rushed through the colleges, Cramped pedagogically, Finished most logically, Where is the childhood, The fresh, happy childhood, The olden times knew!

Children successively Reared thus aggressively, Posing eternally, Fed internally, Planned religiously, Will they ever be happy? Never cry "Quit!" to it? Will not analysis Show our ways? Till our distraction, Brims with reaction, Brings back childhood, The bright, careless childhood, The olden times knew!

Brown W. P. C. at the last regular meeting, Thursday evening, was visited by Maude Merrick, assistant deputy inspector, who complimented the Corps on their work. Prior to the inspection a supper was served to the Corps and members, followed by a memorial service in honor of Maj. G. A. Hastings, Dr. J. A. Morton, Leander G. Grover and C. O. Bartlett, who have died the past year.

Catarrh Cannot Be Cured with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal medicine. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quick cure, but it is prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best medicines known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials and a bottle of HALL'S CATARRH CURE, Prop., Toledo, O. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Best Treatment for Colds. "Most ordinary colds will yield to the simplest treatment," says the Chicago Tribune, "moderate laxatives, hot foot baths, a free perspiration and avoidance of exposure to cold and wet after treatment." While this treatment is simple, it requires considerable trouble, and the one adopting it must remain in doors for a day or two, or a fresh cold is almost sure to be contracted, and in many instances pneumonia follows. It is not better to pin your faith to an old Cough Remedy, that is famous for its cures of colds and can always be depended upon? Then no unusual precaution is necessary to avoid contracting a fresh cold. It also counteracted by a fresh gold. It also counteracted by a fresh gold. It also counteracted by a fresh gold.

THE above picture of the man and fish is the trademark of Scott's Emulsion, and is the synonym for strength and purity. It is sold in almost all the civilized countries of the globe.

If the cod fish became extinct it would be a world-wide calamity, because the oil that comes from its liver surpasses all other fats in nourishing and life-giving properties. Thirty years ago the proprietors of Scott's Emulsion found a way of preparing cod liver oil so that everyone can take it and get the full value of the oil without the objectionable taste. Scott's Emulsion is the best thing in the world for weak, backward children, thin, delicate people, and all conditions of wasting and lost strength.

D. D. D. Prescription
Worth its weight in gold

D. D. D. remedy is worth its weight in gold. One bottle cured my little boy Francis, three years old, of a bad case of Eczema. I had tried all sorts of remedies without effect. When I got the bottle of D. D. D. of you I had no faith in it and expected the result would be as in the past. I was surprised to find it made a complete cure, and also cured my hands when I had cut them and caught the Eczema from my little boy. I had tried a great many salves and washes with no success. I cheerfully recommend it to all troubled with Eczema.

Fur Time.

The fur season is at hand, the days when the ladies appear with their muffs and neckpieces are with us once more, and so are the days when the fur bearing animals have to step carefully and travel about quietly to avoid the traps or the bullets from the hunters. The trappers of Maine get many hundred dollars' worth of furs annually and these furs are shipped away to be made ready for purchasers of muffs, neckpieces, gloves, caps and fur coats.

The furs which are mostly obtained in this locality are those of the mink, skunk, muskrat, raccoon and fox.

The mink is really one of the most valuable and most plenty of the fur bearing animals captured hereabouts. The skins are at their best when taken from the middle of November to the middle of January, as they are then of the best color. Earlier than that their hair is shorter and later it is faded. A prime mink skin will bring from $3 to $7 according to its size, condition and color. As a rule mink is captured with the aid of a dog. The little animal is found along the shores of rivers and streams, and while its greatest safety lies in the water, it will almost always take to a hole in the ledges when pursued and if it is driven to the water it will usually get into the rocks as soon as possible.

The mink hunter with an iron bar, a pistol and a dog start on the war path. The dog scents the mink and drives him to take refuge in a crack in a ledge. Then the hunter finding a place in the ledge inserts the bar and rattles it about, the noise frightens the animal which sticks its head out of the hole and a shot from a pistol does the rest. Many of the mink hunters use a steel trap, however, for catching them, baiting it with fish which is the most sought article of food on the menu of the mink family.

Skunks as a rule are caught in traps and their skins when in good condition bring from 25 cents to $1.00. Chicken meat is very seductive to the skunk's appetite and the trapper not only gets a good price for the skin but if he also extracts the oil he has also another source of revenue.

The muskrats are, of course, plenty especially along old wharves and dams. At Winnegance a great many rats are taken every year. Their skins are most valuable in the spring when they bring 25 cents. At this season they are worth 15 to 20 cents.

For the skin of the raccoon fur buyers pay from 75 cents to $1.50 each for them. These animals are as a rule captured at night by men with dogs especially trained for the work. The coons are great lovers of corn and in the fall of the year infest the corn fields and cause the farmers much annoyance. The dogs scent the coon, which, when located, is usually in a tree or in a den in a ledge. If in the former he is sometimes shot, while in other cases the hunter climbs up a tree and cuts off the limb on which the coon is perched and lets the animal fall to the ground, when the dogs get in their work. Coons when fat often reach a good size. If they are found in a den in the ledge the hunter smokes them out.

Dear skins bring from 50 cents to $1.50 are really of little use except for rugs. A good many foxes are taken in this locality. As a rule foxes are shot but occasionally they are trapped. It is said that a fox so hates to be captured that it caught by a leg in a trap he will sometimes gnaw off the leg to escape. A red fox skin brings $2.25 to $5.00.

If you see a grey fox or even a black one be sure to shoot him. They are very rare and the skin of the former is worth $75 to $800, while that of the latter will net $100 to $1,000. A black fox was seen in Woolwich woods several times last winter but no gunner was lucky enough to bring him down. It is said that no dog lives which can run down a black fox. They always show reserve power when needed, great endurance and are the wisest animal known to man.

Bears are found in Oxford and Aroostook counties. If you see a bear in your travels be sure to get him. His skin is worth $10 to $20 and occasionally as high as $35 or even $40.

NAPLES.

Mrs. Samuel Pitts.
Mrs. Samuel Pitts of Harrison was brought to Naples for burial in the village cemetery on Nov. 21. She leaves five children: Joseph, Silas, Albert of Harrison, George of Bangor and Mrs. Charles Doughty of Harrison; also one brother and sister, Aime Stuart of Massachusetts and Mrs. Lydia Brigham of Bridgton. She was a kind and loving mother and respected by all who knew her.

Charles Proctor is building a cottage for Mr. Wright of New York on the east side of Long lake. He has employed several men, namely Zank Savory of New Hampshire, Theodore Glover, Fred Flagg, Walter Flagg, Richard Lynch, Walter Knox, Bert Libby, James Chute and Warren Downing and also building a cottage for David Mitchell on the west side of the lake.

Fryeburg Academy.

A number of students took part in the recital given by Mrs. Albert Abbott's pupils at New Church, Nov. 10th. The scholars who are studying music at Mrs. Abbott evidently find it "no snap course." The school is very fortunate to have the services of a musician of Mrs. Abbott's ability and training. Coal fires and outside windows now show that the academy buildings are preparing themselves for a struggle with the cold. Everything is now ready for a winter's siege.

The seniors are now very much agitated as to what they shall give for a drama. Cheer up, seniors, your writing and delivering senior essays this term will be an admirable prelude to your successes next term in your drama.

On Saturday, Nov. 18, a football game took place at Cornish, between Cornish High school and Fryeburg Academy. The score was 16 to 6 in favor of our team, and our boys returned home quite elated by their success.

For the past four or five weeks the students have been giving great events in chapel, Wednesday mornings. These are interesting and instructive to all the students and are proving one of the most agreeable features of the week's work.

Church Reopened.

The Methodist church edifice at Buckfield, after being closed several months for repairs, was reopened the 19th, with appropriate services. In the morning the sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered with a short discourse by the pastor.

In the afternoon the service of the pastor and rededication service by the pastor. In the evening, a union service of the Baptist and Methodist churches. After song and prayer half hour, short addresses were made by the pastors, Rev. A. D. Athearn of the Baptist church and Rev. A. W. Pottle of the Methodist church. Remarks were made also by Charles Prince and others.

About $700 has been laid out in repairs—building an entire new foundation with concrete steps to the main entrance. The audience room with the chapel has been put in complete repair and repainted. Running water is now being put into the parsonage, which has also been repaired and improved, affording a convenient and cozy home for the pastor and his good wife.

A Handsome Souvenir.

The Grand Trunk Railway System have issued a beautiful set of playing cards which contain fifty-two views of scenes on their lines, reproduced in half-tone engravings—an illustration of each scene on each card. The stock of which the cards are made is the best that can be obtained, for the purpose, prepared by a water-proof process by the well known English firm of Goodall & Son, London. The backs contain a handsome design beautifully lithographed in eight colors. The cards have gold edges and are neatly boxed. They are for sale by news agents on Grand Trunk trains, and at news stands, and make an interesting souvenir not only for one's home but to send to distant friends.

Jupiter, King of the Eastern Sky.

Great Planet Now at Its Highest Brilliance—Points for Star Gazers.

In these crisp evenings when the dark comes early, and when the heavens seem to sparkle with the foreboding frosts of winter, which now draw swiftly earthward from cold outer space, the greatest of all the gods, Jupiter, adorns the eastern sky. While Saturn glows in the south, alone in his planetary grandeur, as if avoiding the presence of the livelier stars, Jupiter rises with the Pleiades, fast chased by Orion ablaze with wonderful brilliancies.

It would be impossible to place in sharper contrast the peculiarities that distinguish the planets from the fixed stars than they are now placed by the presence of Jupiter in one of the richest regions of the starry heavens. People who know little of astronomy, but wish that they knew more, often complain of a dulling of the experience in trying to find the planets in the crowd of the stars.

Here, then, is an almost unparalleled opportunity, not only to find Jupiter, but to learn to recognize the essential difference between the appearance of a planet and that of the stars.

If you go out of doors between 8 and 9 o'clock in the evening, you will see over in the east, above the hills, a very brilliant point of light, gleaming like a distant signal lamp. That is Jupiter. You cannot mistake him, for he is too plainly the king! He has no equals and no rivals about him.

But, now, note his most interesting situation with reference to two very beautiful and celebrated groups of stars. Close above Jupiter, toward the west, you will see a glittering assemblage of small stars, grouped like a cluster of grapes sparkling with hoar frost. They are the Pleiades, most famous of stars, most ancient in the superstitions of reverence that they have excited from the very beginnings of human history, and most mysterious in the light of modern scientific revelation of their half nebulous constitution. On the other side, toward the east from Jupiter, you will see the V shaped figure of the Hyades, with the splendid red-tinted Aldebaran blazing on the tip of one of the arms of the mimic letter. Jupiter is like a golden fulcrum, on which, suspended at the ends of an invisible balance, hang these two heaps of starry gems.

Then note the difference between the look of the great planet and the looks of those stars. Take Aldebaran, for example. Its light is all a glitter with restless shooting of bright colored rays. The light of Jupiter is steady, almost motionless, but slightly disturbed now and then by the passing of an atmospheric billow, like the reflection of a ship's lamp on the water. If you watch Jupiter throughout the coming winter you will see him slowly quit his place, leave the Pleiades and the Hyades and eventually, with majestic step, advance eastward over the head of Orion, although at first he will move westward in consequence of the apparent retrogression in his newness caused by the swifter motion of the earth in the same direction.

In any event, whether you look at Jupiter now and forget him next week, which is not likely, or whether you continue to follow him round and round the sky as long as you live, which is far more probable, do not fail at the beginning of your acquaintance to fix in your mind the chief facts known about him. Jupiter is a globe about thirteen hundred times as large as the earth, but the materials of which he is made are of such a nature, or such a state, that in weight he exceeds the earth only three hundred and eighteen times. His surface is a hundred and twenty times as extensive as that of the earth. He has four moons as large as, or larger than, our moon, and three that, as far as size goes, are mere toy moons, the largest of them being perhaps less than a hundred miles in diameter. He is the giant of the planetary system, and has captured more comets, and in general, exercised more disturbing force in the solar empire, than any other member of it.

Is Jupiter inhabited? Astronomy cannot answer the question. But, as in the case of Saturn, we may say: If Jupiter has inhabitants they cannot be much like us; they are either greater, or they are less, than we in the ranks of organic existence.

A Little Girl's Reward.

Once upon a time, a little girl was passing a rich girl's house. She saw a little playing with dolls. She looked in and saw the doll's head come off. It could be fixed, but the girl did not want the doll, so she said "if you do not want the doll give her to me." So she gave her the doll. The poor little girl was so pleased with her new treasure that she ran so fast to her home of sticks and leaves.

The next morning she went to get her breakfast by begging it. After she had got her breakfast, she tried to think of something she could do to earn some money. At last she thought she could earn some by picking some flowers and selling them, so she went into the woods and picked the best she could find. When she came back with all she could carry, she made them into bouquets to sell for a cent each. Then she went to sell them. She had such good luck that she earned half a dollar and bought her some dinner. She took her dinner home and gave her doll some too.

Every day she picked and sold flowers until they were all gone. At that time she was ten years old. In winter she lived by selling papers.

The next summer as she was picking flowers she saw a pocketbook lying at her feet. She opened it, and found the name of the owner. It was one of the richest men in the city. She gave it to him and he was greatly pleased for it saved him lots of trouble. He took her as his daughter, and she went to school and grew up a good honest woman.

WEST BETHEL.

A Profitable Term of School.
Our village school taught by Agnes L. Barton of Bethel closed the fall term last Friday. Miss Barton has spent her time for the best interest of her pupils, who have made good progress in their studies and all speak very highly of their teacher. As one young lady remarked to your correspondent, "She tries awful hard to teach us all she can." Great satisfaction is the result to both scholars and parents. This has been a very quiet term, there has not been the least disturbance during the entire term.

Thursday afternoon there was a school exhibition given by the scholars. The school-room was very prettily decorated and looked fine. There were quite a number of visitors present. There was a very fine program which was fully carried out without the least hesitation in all its parts, as each one promptly took their position acting their part, doing credit to themselves, and to the pride of their teacher.

Friday afternoon the teacher gave the scholars a cobweb party, the web being woven all around under and over the heads of each scholar having a web to wind up, finding a prize at the other end. There was one web not taken up and the teacher was to her surprise told it was hers and to wind it up. She seemed to fear it might be a joke on her but was reached she found a gold ring. She seemed very much pleased to receive so nice a present from her scholars.

Mrs. Christie Gaul is boarding at John Murphy's.

Cleve Bell, who is at work at South Paris, was at home last Sunday.

N. H. Palmer and wife of Lovell were here recently to visit a sister, Mrs. Vienna Holt.

H. W. Dennison and family of South Paris came up and visited their parents last Sunday.

Grace E. Farwell, who has been teaching school at Jefferson, N. H., is at home on a vacation.

W. A. Farwell has taken down his old shed and is putting up a new one, which will be more convenient when completed.

Mina Tyler, who has been quite sick and obliged to stay at home a short time, is now better and has returned to her position in the store and postoffice. She looks rather poorly.

EAST STONEHAM.

E. B. Russell and wife are in very poor health and may not be able to go out during the winter.

Walter S. Butters has given up the idea of going to Newry this winter and will remain at home.

J. Bartlett's dower mill caught fire on the evening of Saturday the 18th, but was discovered by the stage driver who gave warning and extinguished.

Levi McAllister recently slaughtered a hog; then weighed when dressed 323 pounds, and Angus McAllister had one dressed that was considerable heavier.

I was informed that Lewis Brown, son of George Brown, a young lad, shot and killed a deer and succeeded in getting the carcass home unaided, and thought he did well for a boy of his size.

An agent has been in town to secure subscribers for a history of Stoneham and adjoining towns, to be published in the near future. It appears that he secured a goodly number of names.

William Culbert has moved his family into the Merrill house for the winter. James Merrill is working at North Bethel and Seward Merrill is at South Paris, assisting in the care of George W. Speers and about the house. Several of the comrades have called to see Mr. Speers of late.

Why the Evergreen Trees Never Lose Their Leaves.

Winter was coming, and the birds had flown far to the south where the air was warm and they could find berries to eat. One little bird had broken its wing and could not fly with the others. It was alone in the cold world of frost and snow. The forest looked warm, and it made its way to the trees as well as it could to ask for help.

First it came to a birch tree. "Beautiful birch tree," it said, "my wing is broken, and my friends have flown away. May I live among your branches till they come back to me?"

"No, indeed," answered the birch tree, drawing her fair green leaves away. "We of the great forest have our own birds to help. I can do nothing for you."

"The birch is not very strong," said the little bird to itself, "and it might be that it could not hold me easily. I will ask the oak. So the bird said: 'Great oak tree, you are so strong, will you not let me live on your boughs till my friends come back in the springtime?'"

"In the springtime!" cried the oak. "That is a long way off. How do I know what you might do in all that time? Birds are always looking for something to eat, and you might eat up some of my acorns."

"It may be that the willow will be kind to me," thought the bird; and it said, "Gentle willow, my wing is broken and I could not fly to the South with the other birds. May I live on your branches till the springtime?"

The willow did not look gentle then; she drew herself up proudly and said, "Indeed, I do not know you, and we will never talk to people whom we do not know. Very likely there are trees somewhere that will take in strange birds. Leave me at once."

The poor little bird did not know what to do. Its wing was not yet strong, but it began to fly away as well as it could. Before it had gone far a voice was heard: "Little bird," it said, "where are you going?"

"Indeed, I do not know," answered the bird sadly. "I am very cold."

"Come right here then," said the friendly spruce tree, for it was her voice that had called. "You shall live on my warmest branch all winter if you choose."

"Will you really let me?" asked the little bird eagerly.

"Indeed, I will," answered the kind hearted spruce tree. "If your friends have flown away, it is time for the trees to help you. Here is the branch where my leaves are thickest and softest, and we will never talk to people whom we do not know. Very likely there are trees somewhere that will take in strange birds. Leave me at once."

"I can help, too," said a little juniper tree. "I can give you berries all winter long, and every bird knows that juniper berries are good."

So the spruce gave the little bird a home, the pine kept the cold north wind from it, and the juniper gave it berries to eat.

The other trees looked on and talked wisely.

"I would not have strange birds on my boughs," said the birch.

"I shall not give my acorns away for any one," said the oak.

"I might have anything to do with strangers," said the willow. And the three trees drew their leaves closely about them.

In the morning all those shining green leaves lay on the ground for a cold north wind came in the night and every leaf that it touched fell from the tree.

"May I touch every leaf in the forest?" asked the wind in its frolic.

"No," said the forest king. "The trees that have been kind to the little bird that has the broken wing may keep their leaves."

That is why the leaves of the spruce, the pine and the juniper are always green.—Selected.

Apples in this section are sold and a small lot they were.

W. Dacey took a car load of cattle and hogs to Brighton last week.

The Congregational circle meets with Mrs. Augusta Brown, the 26th.

Fred Sanborn is building a steam mill on the Snow place to save the pine timber near by.

C. B. Smith has piped the water from the well into the house, using galvanized iron, 1 1/2 inch pipe.

C. B. Smith lost a nice open faced silver watch at or near East Brownfield depot and would be glad to reward the finder.

Lost in the Woods.

But He Traveled in a Circle and Did not Get Very Far.

Dismissing the services of a guide for an afternoon's tramp through the woods, a Boston business man essayed to find a deer without assistance, and because of his experience and the resultant amusement of his companions he now, fervently wishes he had followed the advice of friends camping with him and taken a woodsman.

After tramping through the snow for several hours the huntsman made up his mind to return, but he was wandering aimlessly about and became convinced he was lost. Having heard many stories of the strange mental affliction which overtakes lost persons, he determined to keep his wits and follow all the rules of woodcraft to find the direction in which he should go.

He established north and south by moss on trees and by the thicker limbs on the southerly side, and then climbed several giants of the forest in an effort to get a bearing. Every attempt to locate himself seemed to be of no avail. He searched for a flowing brook to follow to a stream, and he fired his gun several times, but only disappointment resulted. Finally as night was coming on, he gave up in despair and determined to make the best of the situation.

Selecting a favorable spot, he cut down several saplings and arranged a sort of lean-to, which would afford him protection. Before the sun disappeared entirely he cut a notch in a tree trunk in the direction where it was last seen, so that, if the following day proved cloudy he should have something to indicate the compass points beside the moss on the trees. He gathered wood for a fire and sat down to meditate on the possibilities of danger from wild animals.

Hardly had he got settled with the flames from his fire leaping high in the air, than he was startled by a loud shout and in response to the welcome sound he yelled "Halloo!" with all his might. In five minutes he was surrounded by a group of friends and guides.

"Where am I?" he asked nervously, after the greetings were over.

"About two minutes' walk from camp, come up and have some supper," said one of his friends, and right cheerfully the man responded.

The explanation of the situation was simple. He had almost reached home when he decided to give up the search. Earlier in the evening when his companions feared he was lost, they started out to find him, and, traveling some distance from camp, they did not hear his gun, nor his heels. They returned to quarters and were eating supper when the reflection of his fire showed in the darkness. An investigation the next day proved that the man had not been a mile from his camp during his afternoon's walk.

The funeral of Peter M. Holden was held Thursday afternoon, at his late residence near North Paris, in charge of Granite Lodge of Masons, West Paris, of which he was a charter member.

A Talk about Photos.

"Amateur work lasted later than usual this season," said Miss Libby of the Cottage Studio. "We have been rushed with this work up to now. The post cards, too, have given us a lot of extra work this summer. Since the advent of the post album, the demand for post card collections has increased. I do not know how long this may last but in England it has had a run already of three or four years. Here in the United States the people did not catch on to the post cards very quickly. I think the idea came from England."

"Every fad has its day. There was the photograph album, the autograph album and the like. Now there are the photograph albums manufactured. But then the photographers are responsible for that. Formerly the photographs were two sizes, the cabinet and the albumen, and they would fit very nicely into an album, now since fancy mounts came in vogue they are all sizes and shapes. They are constantly changing and no album could be made to fit the pictures. It was a nice way to keep the photos in an album."

Now many of the pictures are put up around the neck and soon become soiled, or they are put in a box or drawer. Some few are framed. This is a good way to protect them and they look well when suitably framed."

A Jo Mary Hunt.

The Maine Sportsman says:—A trio of bold hunters, O. C. Hubbard, Boston, W. N. Davis, Norway, and A. N. Soule, Augusta, returned recently from a most enjoyable outing at Potter's camp, Jo Mary lake. Col. Hubbard was a new recruit in the ranks of the mighty hunters, but distinguished himself by slaying a 300 pound bear. The Colonel came in contact with two bears that were beech nutting on a ridge. At the first shot, bruin No. 1 started for a right and run, but the Colonel being an old foot ball player, proceeded to make a star tackle. His rifle failed to eject the shell and was out of commission, old bruin he must have at any cost so with knife in hand the Colonel was prepared to do or die.

Down over the ridge, through a burnt and blow-down, and into a cedar swamp went the bear with the gallant hunter hot on the trail of blood, but when the Colonel was seen an hour later as he emerged from the swamp with the much prized bear skin over his shoulder, his canvas suit—that is, what was left of it—would indicate that there had been something doing in the swamp. Bruin No. 2 took to the pucker brush and was safe.

Davis and Soule each came out with a deer, that is, the warden checked Davis game as such, but had doubts as to the identity of the beast. Those that were unfortunate enough to see it, claim it resembled a rabbit to such an extent, that it required great discrimination to detect the difference; but Soule said he saw Davis come into camp with it under his arm, and knew he would not have his arm around anything but a DEAR.

Allice D. Gammon is home from the Farmington Normal school for vacation. Mrs. Jennie N. Cook has let her house to John W. Lasselle and expects to work in Lewiston this winter.

Mrs. C. H. Sargent is visiting her daughter, Mrs. H. R. Eaton, at Belfast. Mr. Sargent is to spend Thanksgiving there.

John Walker, who has worked at the Poland Spring House for the past ten years, has returned to Norway for the winter.

Harry Dean, conductor on the Portland & Yarmouth electric railway visited his sister, Mrs. H. J. Bangs on a hunting trip to Hastings.

A 50 h. p. steam boiler arrived Friday for Partridge Bros. and was hauled to their new mill at York's Mills, where they are doing an extensive lumber business.

Valerie, daughter of A. B. McAllister, is a contestant in the Boston Globe educational contest and her many friends here are saving their coupons for her, and naturally all the Globe readers of Norway are interested to help.

Stella and Helen Pike attended the funeral of their aunt, Mrs. Nancy Noyes, in Harrison, Sunday. She resided in Norway with their mother for several years. A son, with whom she lived, also a sister in Saxtonville, Mass., and an aged brother survive her.

"I thought I would come in and tell you about the man getting shot at Bridgton, Saturday," said stage driver Frank Eastman, Monday, to the Advertiser. It required considerable questioning to get at the facts of the terrible tragedy which is that a man went into a store at that place and bought some.

George I. Cummings, of the firm of C. B. Cummings & Sons, has been showing a good many kinds and shapes of little wood molds to his friends. These are turned from dowels by a New York manufacturing firm, and are of all sizes from those as small as little beads hardly visible to others of quite respectable size. These are hand covered with silk thread or other material by women and are used in pastamentary, buttons, tassels, etc. It has been found that these molds could be turned much better from dowels than from wood in other forms, and that wood is better than metal or glass for covering. It takes 15 cords of birch to make 15 pounds of the finished product of the smallest sizes.

George H. Virgin of Rumford Falls was in Mechanic Falls one day last week and the Ledger understands that while there he bargained for the Isaiah Perkins property on Main street, and it is also rumored that the Virgin Bros. may remove their novelty mill there.

Mrs. Nancy Noyes.

Mrs. Nancy Noyes died at the home of her son, A. C. Noyes, of Harrison, on Thursday, Nov. 29. She was 80. She was a few days, though has not been feeling well for some time. A complication of diseases in connection with her age, which was 83, was the cause of her death. Funeral services were held Sunday, at the home of her son, attended by Mr. Tuttle, of Bolster's Mills.

Fair a Great Success.

There was a generous patronage of the Fair given last Thursday by the members of Mount Hope Rebekah Lodge, No. 58, of Concord Road and the ladies of the several tables were visited and the goods disappeared like snow before the brilliant sun.

The first table on the right as one entered the hall was the candy table. Here were all kinds of home-made candies, enough to satisfy the sweet tooth of many a small boy or girl, or those of us or great age who have the yearning for sweets. The ladies in charge were kept busy as could be. Next was a guess cake that looked "good enough to eat." It bore the legend Mr. Hope Rebekah, No. 58, and you paid your money and guessed the weight. Next was the miscellaneous table. Here were noticed a large number of articles, which purchasers rapidly took so that the stock was completely disposed of before the fun was over.

In the center was the round table piled high with fancy articles, needle-work, pictures and the like. There were guessing contests here. The table had a constant stream of purchasers and many thus have already solved the eternal problem of the Christmas gift. Near the furnace was the quilt table. The stock here were handsome specimens of work and certainly looked as if there was fifty degrees of warmth in each one.

A particularly handsome one was disposed of by drawing. In the lower corner was the Golden Goose, who in return for a nickel gave a prize package. The several bundles of goods were given away every one was satisfied with their bargains. There was a continual rush of business at this booth, which was neatly trimmed in golden hue. Next was the apron table, which was piled with these useful and indispensable articles. There were many sold as every lady has use for just one more apron, no matter how many she may have at home.

In the corner nearest the stage was a small tent, wherein sat Fortunae, the Queen of Mystery. Fortune telling is an attractive art, each one desiring to get just a peep into the future. This tent was patronized very extensively and good fortunes were lavishly prophesied to all comers.

At half-past six supper was served, the tables being set upon the stage across the end of the hall. A large crowd was fed, the tables being up three times. The supper of beans, salads, pies and cake went rapidly though an abundant supply was on hand. A brief entertainment was given consisting of song by Beryl Millett, recited by Howard Chick and Merton Tower, recitation by Maude Allen, and readings by Mrs. Alton Curtis of South Paris and Mrs. Cave, who were exceptionally fine and were heartily enjoyed.

Miranda Billings.

The death of Miranda Billings, which occurred at the home of her nephew, George H. Billings, at South Waterford, Friday, Nov. 17, after a brief illness, removes from the town one of its oldest and best known residents. She was born in Waterford, Oct. 7, 1822, being the youngest of the seven children of Daniel and Sarah Kimball Billings, who were among the earlier settlers of the town. Of this family only one now remains, John D., aged 87 years, who is living with a daughter in Milneville. A sister, Mrs. Maria A. Houghton, with whom she resided most of her life, passed away last year at the age of 90 years.

For many years Miss Billings followed the occupation of nurse, afterwards, in company with the late J. O. Longley of Waterford, carrying on the business of undertaking, until old age compelled her to retire.

She was a charter member of Bear Mountain Grange, P. of H. serving as its Secretary for about a quarter of a century, and taking a deep interest in the order until her death. She kept up to the last an extensive correspondence with friends all over the Union, and was a frequent contributor to the newspapers.

The funeral services took place Monday afternoon, Rev. L. F. McKenney of Bridgton officiating in a simple and dignified manner. The Grange attended in a body and performed the touching burial service of the order in a fine manner, while the Grange choir furnished excellent music. There were many beautiful floral offerings, and the remains were deposited in Elmvale Cemetery, in the midst of a large number of departed family connections.

Among the relatives present from abroad, were her nieces, Mrs. A. S. Kimball of Norway, Mrs. Clara B. Noble of Winchester, Mass., and Mrs. Charles B. Gibbs of Bridgton, and a nephew, Charles C. Hamlin of North Bridgton.

STOW.

Maurice Eastman shot a deer, recently. Mrs. Lydia Chaplin is suffering from a slight shock.

Q. W. Stevens has taken a logging job of D. W. True and P. B. Walker of Lovell.

Lillian Lord of Lovell, who has been teaching school, was obliged to close on account of sickness.

Annie Kimball is home from Mrs. Frank Seavey's. Mrs. Seavey is more comfortable at present.

O. P. Stevens and family are expected home in the near future from South Windham, where he has been working for the Androscoggin Pulp Co., the past three years.

While Q. Stevens was swamping roads on the True & Walker lot, recently, he shot two big hedgehogs, also one weasel. They look as though they had lived in Joe Kimball's corn this fall.

Kiss Album the Latest.

A West End London woman has an album in which kisses of friends are registered. The album is provided with a pad of soluble carmine tinted sub. Then the kiss is imprinted in space provided on a page on which the kisser may add his or her photograph. The inventor says there is a lot of character in kisses. Not to be confused with the and smudgy and others are little and pecky.

SIMPLE REMEDY FOR CATARRH.

Just Breathe Hyomei Four Times a Day and Be Cured.

If a few years ago someone had said you can cure catarrh by breathing air changed with a healing balsam, the idea would have been ridiculed, and it remained for the eminent investigator, R. T. Booth, to discover in Hyomei this method of cure.

Hyomei has performed almost miraculous cures of catarrh, and is today recognized by leading members of the medical profession as the only advertised remedy that can be relied upon to do just what it claims. The complete outfit of Hyomei cost $1.00, and consists of an inhaler, a medicine dropper, and a bottle of Hyomei.

Breathe Hyomei through the inhaler for a few minutes four times a day, and it will cure the worst case of catarrh. It soothes and heals the mucous membrane of the air passages, prevents irritation and effects a complete and lasting cure.

In Norway, there are scores of well known people who have been cured of catarrh by Hyomei. If it does not cure you, Noyes Drug Store will return the money you pay for Hyomei. This is the strongest evidence that can be offered as to their faith in the remedy.

WEST BETHEL.

Among the pleasant social events of recent date should be mentioned the surprise party given to Mr. and Mrs. Hannibal E. Grover, at their home near West Bethel, by their many friends and neighbors. Mr. and Mrs. Grover were married at Abington, Mass., fifty years ago this November, and on this occasion was principally in commemoration of their fiftieth wedding anniversary. No intimation of the party was given to Mr. and Mrs. Grover, and they were suddenly surprised by the opening of the door and the trooping in of some 25 of their neighbors with arms full of boxes and bundles. The gifts were numerous including china, silver, a pretty lamp, gold coin, etc. Coffee and cake were served and an enjoyable program of music given. A jolly time was had and many good wishes for the future expressed. Mr. and Mrs. Grover have lived on the farm for over 40 years, but have recently purchased a house in Bethel village where they will in the future reside.

The remains of Mrs. Irene (Lapham) Needham, were brought from Augusta to West Bethel, Thursday, for burial. Funeral services were held at the Union church at West Bethel. Mrs. Needham was the widow of the late John Needham, and was the daughter of Thomas Lapham and Sophronia (Crooker) Lapham of Bethel. She was 64 years old. Two children survive, a daughter, who resides in Gorham, N. H., and a son, Charles G. Needham, of Bethel. Her ancestors came from Tenterden, Kent county, England, in 1634, to Slaterville, Mass., and her grandfather, Abijah Lapham, came to Maine in 1793 and settled in Bethel, and later moved to Bethel.

WEST PORTER.

Mrs. C. P. French, Maria, wife of C. P. French, after weeks of intense suffering, died at her home Nov. 14, at the age of 64 years, 6 days. She bore her suffering with Christian fortitude. She sought her Saviour a good many years ago. Rev. W. H. Cotton officiated at the funeral. The interment was in the Riverside cemetery at Kezar Falls, Friday, Nov. 17.

NORTHWEST NORWAY.
H. I. Holt has got a telephone in his house.

Linwood Brown shot a nice deer on the Munroe lot.

Rare Collection of South Paris.

"A genuine Stradivarius it is said to be, a Port Julian violin. My husband bought from Wagner. I do not know its real age," said Mrs. Nettie Woodbury as with loving care she laid the old violin back in its antique resting place.

"My first husband, Narcisse de Lauzan, who was a Spanish marquis of Madrid, gave 200 dollars for the violin, without a bow or string. He could play thirty-three different instruments, but always his favorite was the old violin. The best farm in Vermont would not have bought it from him. Mr. Howes, of Boston, saw it and said it was one of the best. He said if I ever sold it, not to sell it for too little. I shall part with it some day, if I can get its value. Times are different now and Narcisse has long been dead."

Next to the violin, her famous collection of curios, Mrs. Woodbury prizes the most beautiful silver cornet, "the second one used in this country," she told her visitor. The first was bought by the Seventh regiment of New York, and Narcisse had the second. It was a B cornet and it value it expressly for the associations connected with it.

"There is something that will interest you" and from the corner where it stood Mrs. Woodbury brought a slender green vase of great beauty. Mottled green, flecked with gray, it was of most graceful and delicate creasing, showing the ruins of Nineveh, and is what in Bible times, was called a water urn. It was brought to me from the Holy Land and is centuries old. I have had in my possession ever since I was a child. Notice the peculiar look on the bottom of the vase. I have always thought that was where it burned in the fire of so many long years ago.

"These large vases" continued this interesting woman, "were made by the best Italian sculptors." Of wonderful beauty with exquisitely carved heads and flowers, these vases stood nearly three feet high from the floor, and were of the costliest marble. "We always intended them for our graves," Mrs. Woodbury continued, "and Narcisse paid many hundred dollars for them. They were to be our funeral urns, but now I shall not use them for that purpose. You see, he is gone, and I am married again."

Although these are the oldest curios in Mrs. Woodbury's collection of antiques she has many other wonderful things among her treasures. Traveler in many countries, she has from everywhere brought home some souvenir of her journey.

"I was born in New Hampshire, but much of my life was passed in New York and Virginia. We had a beautiful home in New York, but lost nearly everything through fire. President Garfield was my father's cousin, and among my dearest friends I count Adeline Pattee. You are looking at the veiled picture, it is a painting of my mother. This veil I have over it is of very rare lace, and is one that belonged to my dear mother." Through the gauzy black drapery could be seen the portrait of a handsome, black-eyed woman, whose features bore strong resemblance to those of her daughter.

"I have always painted pictures. I inherited the talent from both sides of the house. Before I could talk, I would sit with pencil and paper, drawing figures. When I was seven I painted one picture and another, when ten years old. All these paintings are my own." Fine proofs of this talented artist's genius were the pictures that hung on the wall. One in particular, "The Return From the Chase," showed the father, grandfather and husband of the artist, with the trophies of the chase grouped in the center of the painting. Draping the picture was a picturesque sash of odd coloring made by an Indian girl from the bark of a tree, and presented together with a cap of the same material to Narcisse de Lauzan. "He was captain for 13 years in the navy," explained his wife, "and was a handsome man, of fine military figure. This inlaid table and the brush were done by him. He was a genius, was Narcisse. This brush is inlaid with pearl, and is all his work. Do you like that little sketch? It is a poor fellow from the boys' lodging house in New York. I went down one day and sketched him, as he sat there, the picture of despair. This painting of 'The Locked Door' is, I think the best of all those I have done." Another picture she has often copied for her Catholic friends; this shows the Madonna on one side and the lamb on the other panel of the picture. Not only is Mrs. Woodbury an artist and musician, but is well versed in needle work, showing rare specimens of her skill. An expert ornithologist, she has a fine collection of stuffed birds, while her geological cabinet is one of the best in the town.

Another family souvenir is the tall clock in the hall, 200 years old, of venerable make and history. Returning to modern times, the strangest sight of all, to a Northerner, is the slave whip, with long leather lash, vividly suggestive of those dark days before the war. "My father had slaves, but never whipped them," said Mrs. Woodbury. "He was a Virginia gentleman, and this whip is similar to those used by some of the slave owners. Like many others, my father was kind to his slaves and freed them. All slave owners were not cruel. Some were, of course, and those who used whips like these were bad men, of ungovernable temper. The long lash cut to the bone, and then the raw and bloody flesh was rubbed with salt. It was terrible."

Among her treasures of ancient pottery and wonderful violin, the visitor left her hostess, marveling greatly at the travels and adventures of life led by this interesting woman. As the wife of the dead marquis, Narcisse de Lauzan, it is certain that her life history has teemed with romantic incidents, such as have fallen to the lot of but few women in this modern world of commonplace.

Mrs. Woodbury's second husband is David B. Woodbury, who a few years ago, was engaged in the seed and florist business at his farm on the Buckfield road near Paris Hill, is well known in this vicinity, where he has always lived. He is now doing a good business in poultry and eggs for the market. They live in South Paris village. [Lewiston Journal.]

FORTUNATE FATHER AND SON. Abbott's Mills.

After the lapse of many years there is renewed activity at this place this season and the cause is directly attributable to the lumbering operations of Messrs. Morse and Chadbourne, who are doing quite an extensive business on the Abbott lot, so called. They have repaired the old saw mill, put in a new water wheel and equipped the mill with improved machinery. A crew of men is cutting and drawing the timber, and another crew is manufacturing the same into a choice lot of long lumber.

During the past week both Morse and Chadbourne have been looking after their interests. Mr. Chadbourne being of a mechanical turn, devised and had made an appliance for facilitating the edging of boards, and adjusted the same to the edger in the mill and it works very satisfactorily.

The Holiday Season.

With the close approach of Thanksgiving the holiday season absolutely forces our attention upon it. Thanksgiving Day really opens the holiday season which has been extended at both ends until now it begins in November and ends at Easter. It is fitting that a time of good cheer should be introduced by the first and end (if it must end) with the coming of the spring warmth, for it during the cold month that charity and human love is most urgently needed.

The poor are always with us and to them in their destination, the season of giving and receiving on the part of the more fortunate and strictly among the more fortunate, simply embitters life and makes more emphatic the wide difference there exists in the walks of life. Let the effect of the season of good cheer be changed.

Moderate the cold of the holiday season with the warmth of fraternity and liberality and in the free giving use wisdom and care. In this land of freedom and prosperity none should want for either food or raiment and every good citizen should make a special effort to have the children of our city, its future men and women, filled and made warm not by the food and raiment of public charity but through the efforts of an individuality in keeping with and fittingly representing the true spirit of "Good will to men."

Arthur Smith and Harry L. Smith, of Woodville, secured two good deer at a ten days hunt in that section.

in a roof might have been prevented by the timely use of a proper coating for the shingles. A good shingle stain is economical for it fills the pores of the shingles with oil, prevents the water from soaking in, and makes them last much longer. In addition a stained roof gives your buildings a look of thrift and distinction. PORTLAND SHINGLE STAINS have all the qualities required for preserving the shingles and beautifying. They are most durable and the colors are permanent. Order them through your dealer or send to us for our colored sample slats.

Temperance Sunday.
World's Temperance Sunday was well observed here last Sunday, at the Methodist church in the morning. Rev. D. F. Nelson, while he did not preach a really temperance sermon, referred to it but thought it better to do so at the present time. The Evangelist Johnson, in the two weeks just past, touched upon the subject nearly every time he spoke, and said some good things for our prohibition State. Mr. Johnson was from the state of Vermont where the people are going to have the prohibition law put in force again.

Rev. F. E. Barton preached a good temperance sermon in the afternoon for the Universalist society.

The W. C. T. U. had a very interesting meeting in the evening, which was opened with a praise service, and prayer by Rev. D. F. Nelson. A paper, stating what the Woman's Christian Temperance Union believes in, was read by Mrs. C. H. Lane. An interesting paper by Mrs. Alice Nelson, was given by Mrs. Alice Nelson. A temperance story was read in a pleasing manner by Elmer Tuell. A recitation by Ivan Tuell and a pretty exercise by six little girls and a Cold Water song by Alice Barden. The children all did exceptionally well. A quartet, Luther Irish, tenor, Mrs. C. L. Bates, soprano, Mrs. Luther Irish, alto, and H. C. Loveland, bass, with Della H. Lane, organist, rendered sweet music. The exercises were closed by singing remarks and benediction by Rev. F. E. Barton. The house was well filled.

Hen Took a Raging Ride.
A few weeks ago we related two incidents in regard to animals that happened in this vicinity. Here is another and it is about a hen this time that wanted to take a ride. A few nights ago Mrs. Harry Johnson of Trap Corner hitched her horse into the wagon to come over to the village, as usual, for her husband, who works for the Paris Mfg. Co. When about half-way over the wagon ran over a stone with a jolt and she heard something drop and then the "Caw, caw, quack," of one of her pet pullets, that evidently had been on the rear axle of the wagon when she started from home. She got out and tried to catch her, but it being rather dark and she alone with the horse, decided to leave the hen there in the bushes, where she had fluttered beyond her reach. On their return Harry easily found her and they took her back home still talking in her hen way as much as to say, "I wanted a ride but you won't let me have it. I lost me beside the road so I couldn't have it. Caw, caw, quack."

Mrs. Lucinda Small has gone to Bryant's Pond to spend this week with friends there.

Rev. Geo. Keyes will preach at the Free Baptist church next Sunday morning, and will go to North Paris in the afternoon.

Clara Berry has returned from Abbott, where she has been teaching, and will spend her two weeks' vacation here with her parents.

The drug stores are going to be closed on Thanksgiving day from 1 to 3 p. m., and probably all the other stores and post office will be closed some of the time through the middle of the day.

The G. T. railroad assistant engine stationed here now has a night crew added. A Mr. Peabody from Portland for engineer, who has at Albert Ryder's, and Charles Denham is fireman. Mr. Harvey from Canada is night operator.

By some mistake or "slip of the pencil," a dreadful error was made in one of your correspondent's items of last week, which made Ethel Holden 21 years old when she was only a little girl 11 years old. She was born June 20, 1894. We are sorry to have made such a blunder and wish to correct it the best we can.

Mrs. R. G. Beals is gaining slowly.

Rena Farris has returned from her visit in Lewiston.

The ladies are busy arranging for a fine Thanksgiving.

Mrs. Mertie Morchides will return to Massachusetts to pass the winter. She intends to leave here next week.

S. P. Hersey and his sister, Olive Hersey, passed last Sabbath with his daughter, Mrs. John Harper, and family.

The winter schools all commence on next Monday, the 4th. Miss Merrill is the teacher here, having taught the two previous terms.

NORTH BETHEL.
School closed on Friday for a two weeks' vacation.

Gertrude Cobb has gone home to Lynnhaven for her vacation.

Everett McKean of Lynchville was at the Guphill House, Friday.

Mrs. Virgil Chapman and two children visited her mother at Northwest Bethel, Sunday.

Mr. Wilson and wife are at H. R. Godwin's for the winter. Mr. Godwin is in poor health.
